WIFELY DEVOTION.

Braving Death in a Blinding Snow-Storm.

To Save Her Dying Husband, But Without Avail.

SHELL LAKE, WIS., March 2.—News has just reached here of a heroic but unavailing attempt of a wife to save her husband's life under peculiarly distressing circumstances. It presents an example of wifely devotion rarely met.

Thursday Fritz Haas and his wife were at Shell Lake doing some trading, and about two o'clock in the afternoon started for home. The couple had walked to town in the morning, and they felt equal to the task of walking back again, a distance of five miles. It was a bitter cold day, and as they advanced the wind began to blow.

Before half of their journey had been accomplished they were wrapped in a blinding snow-storm and their progress became slow and difficult. Soon Mr. Haas sank down in the snow, completely exhausted and unable to proceed. His now frantic wife tried in vain to urge him on, but she was compelled to leave him on, but she was compelled to leave him on, but she was compelled to leave him on.

When she arrived at the house she sought she found a woman alone. It was now about ten o'clock at night, but, taking blankets, the two women started to succor Mr. Haas. He was unconscious when they reached him, and with difficulty they succeeded in getting him a few rods further toward Shell Lake. But Haas was a large, fleshy man, and the women were compelled to abandon their efforts in his behalf. Wrapping her exhausted husband in blankets and giving him some nourishment, Mrs. Haas sat down beside him, while her kind assistant started for her home. Mrs. Haas stayed with her husband until he died, about eight o'clock in the morning. When help arrived at the scene the unfortunate couple was taken home, one nearly as lifeless as the other. Mr. Haas was seventy years of age, and his faithful wife a few years his junior.

The converts labor under the delusion that Utah is a land of milk and honey. All of the men had large families and many had only a few dollars left after purchasing their tickets. There are now two hundred members at work in the South.

AN EXPLODED BOILER.

Seven Men Scalded, Four of Them Fatally—Death of a Pioneer.

OWENSBORO, KY., March 3.—A boiler at the distillery of James Moffatt exploded at Morgan's Station, blowing out the walls of the building, destroying a large part of the machinery and fixtures, terribly burning and scalding seven men and fatally injuring two more. Two more of the injured are liable to die. The distillery will be rebuilt. Hon. John H. McFarland, the oldest citizen of this country in 1805, when Indians and wild beasts held almost supreme sway in Western Kentucky; had been prominent in politics for sixty years, member of the Legislature in 1845, and held many positions of honor in politics and private life.

The failure of the Deficiency bill to become a law is to be much regretted.

Hon. G. H. Heap, U. S. Consul General at Constantinople, died Sunday.

Dr. J. B. McFerrin, the veteran Southern Methodist, of Nashville, Tenn., is dangerously ill.

A resolution of compliment to Speaker Carlisle was unanimously adopted by the House Friday.

The names of a great many prominent persons were placed on the death rolls of last Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Ruth H. Harmon, grandmother of Mrs. Cleveland, died at Jackson, Mich., Sunday evening, aged seventy-six years.

The River and Harbor Bill failed to become a law, by the President not having signed it before the adjournment of Congress.

In the Forty-Ninth Congress more bills were introduced, more were passed and became laws and more were vetoed than at any preceding Congress.

The Democrats of the District of Columbia are reported to be very indignant over the appointment of the negro Trotter to the position of Recorder of Deeds.

The Republicans of the New Jersey Legislature united on Blodgett (a Democrat), and with the aid of a few Democrats, elected him to the United States Senate.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher was stricken with apoplexy Saturday, and died on Monday. He was 73 years old and was the most prominent pulpit figure in American history.

The bill for the Redemption of the trade dollar became a law without the President's signature, he having failed to return it within the ten days required by law. The Polygamy bill goes into effect in the same manner.

The nominations of A. W. Greely, to be Chief Signal Officer with rank of Brigadier General, and James M. Trotter, colored, to be Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia, were confirmed by the Senate. The office given to Trotter pays about $35,000 a year.

Should any change be made in the rate of taxes on whisky or tobacco, the alteration should be an increase, but never a reduction. The consumer pays the tax; and those who will persist in the use of either, should be made to pay for the persistence.

Mrs. James B. Beck, the wife of the distinguished Senator from Kentucky, died at the residence of her husband in Washington Sunday evening, after an illness of two days. Mrs. Beck was a grand-niece of George Washington. She will be buried at Lexington.

In another column will be found a communication from Hon. J. S. Patton, of Eden, Martin county, in regard to his becoming a candidate to represent the people of the 33rd District in the Senate. There is no man in that district who would make a truer representative of the people's interests, or who would strive harder in the Senate for the enactment of wholesome laws than Mr. Patton. He is a good speaker and would command respect in the Senate.

The River and Harbor bill contained an appropriation of $150,000 for the purchase of the thirteen-year franchise of the Green and Barren River Navigation Company. The people of the southwestern part of Kentucky were very anxious for the bill to be signed by the President, as this sale of the franchise would open the Green and Barren rivers free to all boats; and the competition which would naturally spring up would bring their rates of transportation down to at least reasonable figures, whereas they now pay exorbitant rates to the monopoly which has exclusive control.

The effect of the failure of the Deficiency Bill is quite serious. It will postpone the extension of the free delivery system to cities of 10,000 inhabitants, prevents compliance with pressing demands for postal cards, stamps and other items connected with the postal service, and cuts off the supply of money for jurors, witnesses' and marshals' fees during the remainder of the fiscal year.—Louisville Times.

Mr. Congressman Bragg, of Wisconsin, himself a bullet-scarred ex-Federal soldier, pounded the wind out of the Republican demagogues in Congress last week who assailed him on his vote to sustain the President's veto of the Dependent Pension Bill. He handled his shillally with consummate skill, and never failed to crack a head wherever it showed itself. It is said that so adroit and happy an effort has not been witnessed in a debate in Congress for many a day.—Capital.

Mr. W. J. Miles, Jr., of Louisville, claims to be the author of a most important invention. He claims to have discovered a process for hardening steel which thus far promises to be realized. A blade made from a piece of hardened steel shaves ordinary iron as a knife does white pine. Mr. Miles is receiving letters of inquiry from all classes of people interested in the discovery, and if his invention is what he claims, it will make a sensation in the world, and revolutionize naval warfare as well as create a stir in all classes of goods manufactured from steel.—Capital.

HON JOHN S. PATTON,

Will accept the Democratic nomination for Senator from the 33rd District if it is tendered him.

An Address to his Fellow Citizens.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 33RD SENATORIAL DISTRICT, composed of the counties of Clay, Leslie, Harlan, Perry, Letcher, Knott, Pike, Floyd, and Martin:

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I have been asked by many of you to become a candidate for the elevated and dignified position of State Senator. This I have so far declined to do, desiring to leave this important matter to the people of the District, believing as I do that they are the wisest and the best. But in response to the many inquiries made as to whether I would accept the nomination if tendered me by the Democratic party of the District, I desire to say, should that grand old party that I have loved and served all my life, unsolicited by me, generously tender to me the nomination I would not and could not refuse them, and in that event would gratefully accept the nomination and go before the people of the District believing that they would elect me to the coming August election. As to my ability and fitness for this position I have nothing to say, and will leave this with all other questions involved for your consideration; but I now promise you if nominated and elected I will represent the whole District and all the people, with all the honesty and ability I possess. I wish, however, to say that I have no claims to lay before you and I have no aspirations of my own to gratify. I am aware of the dignity that goes with that position but I am not ambitious, and should you in your wisdom nominate another, it matters not to me in what part of the District he may live, I pledge myself to extend to him a warm hand and give to him my earnest support and I would have you remember I will not feel neglected or aggrieved. I greatly regret that I am not acquainted with all of you. The district is large and mountainous and perhaps I may never have the pleasure of seeing you but should I be nominated it will afford me great pleasure to visit all the counties if possible, and form an acquaintance with the people. And now gentlemen I leave this matter to you, pledging myself to abide by your action, hoping that every thing you may do in the premises may be harmoniously done. I am with great regard your friend and obedient fellow citizen

Inez, Martin County, Ky.

There are many topics so dry, prosaic, and so romantic, that in writing or speaking of them the imagination has no room for her fantastic work. Among them we find various diseases—Piles for instance, a painful fact to so many sufferers. It is also an incontrovertible fact that Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment will cure every case of Piles on the globe it sufferers will use it.

The good honest country folks know that the best is the cheapest. Also that Cousens' Honey of Tar will save time for them in making a crop, by curing farm hands speedily of coughs colds and throat and lung diseases. City folks who know all things about a town, use Cousens' Honey of Tar for coughs and colds.

A Genial Restorative.
Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are emphatically a genial restorative. The changes which this great tonic remedy produces in the disordered organization are always agreeable, though surely progressive, never abrupt and violent. On this account it is admirably adapted to persons of delicate constitution and weak nerves, to whom the powerful mineral drugs are positively injurious. That it restores those processes which result in the re-establishment of healthful vigor is conclusively shown in cases where it is taken to overcome that fruitful cause of debility, indigestion, coupled, as it usually is, with biliousness and constipation. Thorough digestion, regular evacuation and abundant secretion, are results which promptly and invariably attend its systematic use. It is, besides, the best protective against malaria, and a first-rate diuretic.

MURDER.

A MERE BOY SHOTS A MAN AND HIS WIFE, DAUGHTER AND SON AND ESCAPES UNPUNISHED.

This county is again the scene of a bloody tragedy. On Cat's Fork Tuesday a sixteen-year old boy named Sam Smith killed Steve Hammond and dangerously wounded Hammond's wife, daughter and son. The following is a statement of the facts as we have received them:

The shooting was done in a Magistrate's Court, where a law-suit was being tried between Hammond and Smith and his brother. During the course of the trial the boy, without warning, drew two self-acting revolvers, and began firing at the Hammonds. Steve Hammond was killed instantly, his wife was shot in the breast, his son received a wound over one eye, and his daughter was shot three times. Smith then left the house, got on a horse and rode away without being pursued.

At last accounts but little hope was entertained of the recovery of either of the wounded persons.

HON. JOS. GARDNER DEAD.

The mountain candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Hon. Joseph Gardner, of Magoffin county, died very suddenly at Frankfort Monday, a short time after having delivered a speech. He had been, for some time previous to his death, actively canvassing the State. His death is mourned by many. The body was taken by the steamer Frank Preston to Paintsville Wednesday morning, and from there it was transferred to his home at Saltersville.

The Louisville Times says of him:—The sudden death of Hon. Jos. Gardner, of Magoffin county, removes one of the prominent candidates for Lieutenant Governor, as well as one of the most accomplished and vigorous of the leaders of the mountain Democracy. Strong of mind, as of limb, he made himself felt in all the relations of life.

The Courier-Journal says of him:—Hon. Joseph H. Gardner, of Magoffin county, died suddenly at Frankfort Monday afternoon. He had just delivered a speech in the court-house announcing his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor, and, going to the house of a relative, was stricken with apoplexy, dying soon afterward. Mr. Gardner was a man of sturdy character and considerable ability, and his service in each house of the General Assembly was devoted to the best interests of those whom he represented.

Children readily adopt the habits of their elders. Some little girls were playing ladies, each with a dollie in her arms. Said one of them, "My baby has been sick for two or three days, with a bad cold but I gave her a dose of Cousens' Honey of Tar, which my mother uses in her family, and it cured her completely."

TOLSON, D., Jan. 10, '87.

FREE TRADE.
The reduction of internal revenue and the taking of the revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufactures. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Roschke's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 5¢ bottle size. The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

RIGHTS OF LABOR.

Archbishop Gibbons' Report to the Vatican Authorities.

The Organization Not Contrary to the Catholic Church—Letter Which Will be Read With Interest by Workmen.

THE CARDINAL'S REPORT.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Cardinal Gibbons' favorable report to Pope Leo as to the aims and standing of the Knights of Labor, set forth in cable dispatches from Rome, was received with much rejoicing by the knights in this city. It has been thought by many of the leading knights that the McGinnis controversy and the attacks made by Henry George on the church would have prejudiced the authorities from Rome, as at Rome against the order, and this fear was aggravated by the fact that Cardinal Tachereau, who sailed in company with the American Cardinal, had announced his intention of endeavoring to influence Rome through it in his fight with the Canadian knights. Cardinal Gibbons, however, says, will settle the whole matter. He is an especial favorite with the Pope, and his advice as to the treatment of any matter in which the United States is concerned will, it is declared, be taken as it is given.

In addition, Bishop Keane, of Richmond, and Bishop Ireland, of St. Paul, who are both friendly to the knights, and who are recognized at Rome as representing the more progressive element in the American hierarchy, are with Cardinal Gibbons to support him in the position which he takes. Cardinal Gibbons is in a position to speak more intelligently of the principles of the knights than any other churchman. Before leaving for Rome he carefully examined the manual of the order. He also held a long conference with Master Workman Powdery, whom he regards as a devout and an energetic Catholic. His present position is the result of his investigation. It is said in clerical circles that the knights had powerful enemies within the Vatican. Many of the Cardinals thought the order to be of a character similar to the secret societies of Italy and Spain, and opposed it for that reason.

The following is the Cardinal's letter to the Propaganda:

To His Eminence, Cardinal Simoni, Prefect of the Holy Congregation of the Propaganda:

YOUR EMINENCE.—In submitting to the Holy See the conclusions which, after several months of observation and deep reflection, I have come to sum up the question of the association of the Knights of Labor, I am strongly convinced of the importance of the matter, and of the need for a prompt and effective remedy.

forms but one ring in the great chain of the social problem of our day, and especially of our country. In judging this question, I have been guided by the conclusions which the Holy Father, Pope Leo XIII., has so admirably promulgated in his encyclicals, and which we shall be guided in distinguishing the associations condemned by the Holy See from those which are approved by it.

the third Plenary Council of Baltimore in its teachings about the principle to be followed and the dangers to be avoided by the faithful in the formation of associations toward which the spirit of our popular institutions so strongly impels. I consider the fatal consequences that might result through an error in the treatment of the organizations, which often count their numbers by thousands and hundreds of thousands, and the refusal of the British government for a second time, as announced by cable, to give assent to the bill which has for its object the expulsion of French fishermen from the fisheries adjacent to that colony, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries here states that there is a strong probability of Newfoundland coming into the Dominion. One government of that colony has gone to the country for re-election several years ago on the question of confederation with the Dominion, but was defeated, as the movement was not popular at the time. Matters have changed since then, and he thinks the feeling in that colony seemed well defined and vigorous.

The present delegation to England has been authorized by the government to lay before the Imperial authorities, the prevailing sentiment before the Imperial authorities. It seemed to be a matter of life and death to the fishing interests of the island. The agitation will probably mold the present somewhat uncertain political sentiment of Newfoundland into more definite shape. He would not be at all surprised if the island would move in the direction of confederation with the Dominion immediately.

This would simplify the fishery question, and in confederation, with the Canadian spirit of improvements and vigorous trade policy put into active force there, Newfoundland might easily enter into a new phase of progress.

IMPUDENT PUGILISTS.

Two Prize Fighters Take Charge of the Dining Room of a Palatial Residence on Brooklyn Heights and Fight Twelve Rounds.

NEW YORK, March 4.—James F. Larkins and Patrick Fitzgerald, fought with two ounce gloves a draw of twelve rounds in a purse of $500 early yesterday morning.

Only five of the subscribers were present outside of the two principals and two reporters. The men, after looking for a place for the fight to come off, found the butler of a private family on Long Island, a friend of Fitzgerald, who said the folks were away and they could fight in the dining room of his employer's residence. This was agreed to, and the dining room of a palatial residence on Brooklyn Heights the fighters stripped. Larkins is twenty-two years old and weighed 125 pounds. Fitzgerald is twenty-four years old and of the same weight. Both men were in fine condition and fought fiercely for eleven rounds, in the majority of which Larkins had the advantage. During the twelfth round the master of the house, who had unexpectedly returned and been asleep upstairs, appeared upon the scene and ordered the crowd out of his house, threatening them with arrest. The referee then declared the fight a draw, ordered the purse to be divided and all bets off. The men then all left the house.

Crushed the Skull of a Wife Beater.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 4.—August Jakozibnik, a Hungarian, while under the exhilarating influence of "Polinka" under provocation, committed an assault on his wife, seriously injuring her.

Emil Dobrows, was unable to loosen the grip of the drunken man from his wife's throat, and seizing a club, dealt Jakozibnik a blow on the head, knocking off an ear and crushing his skull, from which he died yesterday morning. Dobrows was his escape.

Eighteen Horses Burned to Death.

BUFFALO, March 4.—A fire occurred Thursday night in the brick barn in the rear of No. 72 Elm street, owned by Brinker, Moore & Co., coal dealers, and containing eighteen horses, harness, hay, etc. All the horses were smothered to death before they could be rescued. Fireman Hughes was found unconscious in the barn, narrowly escaping suffocation. The building was damaged $100. Loss on horses, etc., between $3,000 and $4,000.

menopausal not only by individuals but corporations also, have already exerted complaints from the workmen and opposition from public and national legislators as well. That the efforts of these monopolists, not always successful to control legislation for their own profit, cause a great deal of anxiety to the distressed friends of liberty; that their heartless avarice which, to increase their revenues, ruthlessly crushes not only the workmen representing the various trades, but even the women and the young children in their employ—makes it plain to all business men that the only way to get the workingmen a right to organize for their own protection, but that it is the duty of the public to have them in finding a remedy against the dangers with which civilization and the social order are menaced by avarice, oppression and corruption. No one could truthfully deny the existence of these evils, the right of legitimate resistance and the necessity for a remedy. The most test we could would be to doubt the legitimacy of the means of resistance employed and of the remedies applied by the Knights of Labor.

The following, then, will be the next point of our examination: Second, it can scarcely be doubted that the forming of associations and organizations of the parties interested in the means of obtaining a public object of any kind, the most natural and efficacious. This is so evident, and besides so much in accord with the spirit of our country and society in general, so essentially popular that we need not dwell upon the fact. It is, we might say, the only means by which public attention can be attracted toward the end desired to be attained; by which force can be given to the most legitimate demands. There exists an organization which represents a thousand attractions, a thousand advantages, but which is not a right to the latter, but which has secured a remedy against the dangers with which civilization and the social order are menaced by avarice, oppression and corruption.

The Cardinal then rings some changes on the favorite Catholic theme, the danger of the Masonic brotherhoods, and passes to a point which will appeal more directly to the average feeling of Americans. He makes a stirring appeal to the sense of duty, and getting himself branded as "un-American," and in terms which, even through the imperfect medium of indifferent French, are the greatest and grandest of the church to the affection, love and devotion of Americans lies in her bosom. Various considerations, more or less of ecclesiastical interest, follow, some a trifle redundant, but all of them leading to the same conclusion: It seems to me plain that the Holy See cannot entertain the proposal to condemn the association. First, because such a condemnation does not appear to be justified by the letter or by the spirit of its constitution, of its laws or by the declarations of its head. Second, because the view of the transient form of the organization, and of the social condition of the United States, and of the world, would not be prudent on account of the reality of the wrongs of the workingmen.

Third, that the existence of such an association, as the American people, Fourth, that it would be dangerous to the reputation of the church in our country. Fifth, that it would be powerless to compel the obedience of our Catholic workmen, who would regard it as false and unchristian. Sixth, that it would be unwise, instead of beneficial in its effects, forcing the sons of the church to rebel against their mother, and to range themselves with the heretical societies which they have hitherto avoided. Seventh, that it would be ruinous to the financial support of the church, and to the raising of Peter's pence. Eighth, that it would turn into doubt and hostility the marked devotion of our people toward the Holy See. Ninth, that it would be regarded as a cruel blow to the authority of the Bishops of the United States, who, it is well known, protest against such a condemnation.

I trust that the considerations here presented have shown sufficiently clearly that such would be the result of such a condemnation, and that the Knights of Labor of the United States. Therefore I leave their cause with a full confidence in the wisdom and prudence of your Eminence, and of the Holy See.

JOINING THE DOMINION.

A Strong Probability of Newfoundland Being Annexed.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4.—Referring to the unsatisfactory state of affairs in Newfoundland, and the refusal of the British government for a second time, as announced by cable, to give assent to the bill which has for its object the expulsion of French fishermen from the fisheries adjacent to that colony, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries here states that there is a strong probability of Newfoundland coming into the Dominion. One government of that colony has gone to the country for re-election several years ago on the question of confederation with the Dominion, but was defeated, as the movement was not popular at the time. Matters have changed since then, and he thinks the feeling in that colony seemed well defined and vigorous.

The present delegation to England has been authorized by the government to lay before the Imperial authorities, the prevailing sentiment before the Imperial authorities. It seemed to be a matter of life and death to the fishing interests of the island. The agitation will probably mold the present somewhat uncertain political sentiment of Newfoundland into more definite shape. He would not be at all surprised if the island would move in the direction of confederation with the Dominion immediately.

This would simplify the fishery question, and in confederation, with the Canadian spirit of improvements and vigorous trade policy put into active force there, Newfoundland might easily enter into a new phase of progress.

IMPUDENT PUGILISTS.

Two Prize Fighters Take Charge of the Dining Room of a Palatial Residence on Brooklyn Heights and Fight Twelve Rounds.

NEW YORK, March 4.—James F. Larkins and Patrick Fitzgerald, fought with two ounce gloves a draw of twelve rounds in a purse of $500 early yesterday morning.

Only five of the subscribers were present outside of the two principals and two reporters. The men, after looking for a place for the fight to come off, found the butler of a private family on Long Island, a friend of Fitzgerald, who said the folks were away and they could fight in the dining room of his employer's residence. This was agreed to, and the dining room of a palatial residence on Brooklyn Heights the fighters stripped. Larkins is twenty-two years old and weighed 125 pounds. Fitzgerald is twenty-four years old and of the same weight. Both men were in fine condition and fought fiercely for eleven rounds, in the majority of which Larkins had the advantage. During the twelfth round the master of the house, who had unexpectedly returned and been asleep upstairs, appeared upon the scene and ordered the crowd out of his house, threatening them with arrest. The referee then declared the fight a draw, ordered the purse to be divided and all bets off. The men then all left the house.

WHAT IS IT?

A Pestilence That Walks in Darkness—A Destruction That Wastes at Noonday.

We have published in our columns from time to time different advertisements in regard to Bright's Disease and its cures. What is this terrible disease?

We have taken the trouble to make an investigation from the best authorities, and we give the results to our readers.

What astounds us is the general indifference given to kidney disorders. The kidneys do not sound as being of great importance, but they are the most important organs of the body, and they are the most delicate.

As soon as this begins to take place it is only a question of how fast decomposition goes on before the disease results fatally. If the proper remedies are taken before final decomposition or waste of these tubes commences, recovery is too far advanced, and that is the only and last chance for relief. It is at this point or before that Warner's safe cure proves so beneficial, and may cure or stop the wasting away of the kidneys (it has not advanced too far).

The most remarkable thing of all our investigation is the fact that the patient with Bright's disease must not only have the symptoms, but the results of every common disease.

First he may possibly feel a dull pain in his back, generally upon the side, which does not clear him from his usual business routine. After a time he may begin to feel nervous pains, or have a slight attack of what he may call rheumatism, or headache, with high or quick pulse, or loss of sleep, with an unpleasant sensation in its passage, and after standing showing an unnatural condition. Later on, come tired feelings, loss of appetite, or any other disease that the eyesight, which is very common, with a distressed condition of the stomach. Any one of these symptoms is liable to occur.

This is the Propaganda that the proprietors of Warner's safe cure curing so many diseases. By regulating and building up the kidneys, symptoms of general ill-health disappear. They justly away of the kidneys, symptoms of general ill-health disappear. They justly away of the kidneys, symptoms of general ill-health disappear.

We have no doubt that very many people in this country have the same trouble as the General, but little importance is attached to this malady by the medical profession because of their inability to cope with it, either in its first appearance or advanced condition.

There appears to be some one cause for nearly every other ailment of the human system, but up to the present time no one has been able to fully account for this terrible malady. We understand that the people of Germany have become aware of its fearful fatality, and have offered 400,000 marks ($100,000) to any one that can satisfactorily explain the cause.
